

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A heat exchanger tube for use in a vehicle, including a tube extending in an axial direction and having an end. The end has a first and second appendage attached to it. The first and second appendages are spaced from one another such that the second appendage does not form an enclosed space with the first appendage.

5